

EXPANDED ACCESS

For patients who do not qualify for clinical trials, Moderna may open an expanded access program for a medication prior to its approval. Currently, we do not have expanded access programs open for our medications. We continually re-evaluate the provision of expanded access programs when new safety and efficacy information becomes available for each medication as we complete definitive Phase 3 studies that allow the benefit and risk to be fully assessed.

Please check back for updates on availability of expanded access or contact medinfo@modernatx.com with any questions about our medications.
